JUNIORS

This year is both an end and a beginning. It is the end of being a lowly underclassman, the beginning of upperclass status. Suddenly the gates of college and business yawn frighteningly close. Frustration and anticipation take the place of the carefree life we led for our first two years at Shaw.

Anticipation of our Senior year looms brightly on the horizon of our sub-conscious minds. The coming of class rings will mark, for many of us, the peak of our participation at Shaw High School.

Finally June comes, the seniors of 1969 leave and the juniors step forward to their place.

SOPHOMORES

The sophomores returned to school this year with a feeling of confidence and a great desire to become involved once again in the many activities offered to our students.

This was the first year in which the sophomores could truly become actively involved in the 1 of 10,000 campaign. They met this responsibility with great success.

The opportunities to join organizations presented themselves once again and were accepted with more confidence and understanding than before.

The sophomore class of 1969 proved themselves an important part of our student body.

FRESHMEN

The freshman year marks the beginning of a new experience in applied learning. The school at first seems to be filled with unending halls and passageways, but the freshman soon learns that the "survival of the fittest" depends on a knowledge of short-cuts, powerful elbows—and a strong will to be educated, which he finds is the biggest reward for his efforts.

Shaw soon changes from a hostile environment into a place where each new student can find fulfillment through many rewarding activities that help to broaden his outlook on life.

ACTIVITIES

SOUTH PACIFIC

South Pacific, the famous musical by Rodgers and Hammerstein, was performed at Shaw this year. Adapted from James Michener's book, Tales of the South Pacific, the plot centers around activities among Navy personnel on a South Pacific island during World War II.

Besides being an entertaining play amplified by a lot of color and excitement, South Pacific also delivers a dynamic message. Prejudice and its evil assortment of side effects are overcome by the best antidote for bigotry: Brotherhood.

Basically, the play contains two love stories. The first concerns a young navy nurse, Nellie Forbush, and a middleaged Frenchman, Emile DeBeque. Early in the play, Nellie, torn between her love for Emile and her apprehensiveness about his Polynesian children, is forced to struggle against the prejudice of her upbringing in order to find happiness.

The second love story concerns young Lieutenant Joe Cable and Liat, his beautiful Polynesian lover. During the course of the play, Joe and Emile become friends and eventually go to investigate enemy troop movements on a remote island, far from Liat and Nellie. As the end nears, Emile and Nellie are reunited, but Joe is killed, thus giving a Bittersweet ending to an excellent Musical.

I got that feelin' . . . . .

MAY QUEEN 1968

With the warmer weather each year comes Spring, and the anticipation that is always forerunner to one of Shaw's biggest events, May Queen. Basically, the May Queen activities are true to tradition in that every event is in a sequence that has long been "the Way of the May" pagaentry.

The beginning is signalled by the nomination of six girls, chosen by the entire senior class to run as candidates in the election for Queen. After the candidates have been announced publicly, they are allowed one week in which to make themselves known. Each girl accomplishes this through the enthusiastic support she receives from her manager and "promotion committee", who try to prove to the student body that their girl should "top the Kingdom".

At the end of the committee's preparation, they give a skit on behalf of their nominee. Many times the skits reflect a great deal of time and effort, and are packed with fast moving gags and pantomimed punch lines, yet each fulfills the purpose of presenting its candidate in the best light.

Afterwards, the six girls are formally presented and the pagaentry enters its most exciting stage. Elections held soon after determine the new queen. Diane Pattie was crowned May Queen for 1968, and reigned over the dance at Korb Lounge with the other members of her court: Selena Burroughs, Deborah Holzheimer, Christine Troychak, Rose Lapin, and Marcia Linamen.

SENIOR "A" DANCE

May Queen is not the only event of the spring season. Many others help to make it a memorable time. The Senior "A" Dance is held a week after May Queen and offers a busy night to all. Sponsored by the Canteen Council, the event also marks the recognition of some outstanding seniors who are honored for achievement during their high school years. The following week brings the Senior Prom. Honor day comes next, the seniors' last day in high school. Then, seniors and their parents attend Class Night. Both of these events honor students for participation in extracurricular activities and for excellence in studies. Capping the year comes graduation which all seniors have waited for with much anticipation.

GRADUATION '68

In September, many seniors groan as they try to picture a seemingly endless year of burial in the books. But many are shocked at how fast their nine months of entombment come to a close—and how soon they must begin preparing for the responsibilities that await them outside the high school doors.

Many of the seniors try to speculate about the uncertainties of their future course of action. A maze of possible careers opens up to them; each one must be carefully weighed and considered according to potential gains and losses—both financially and emotionally.

Yet, the senior year is not only a time of uncertainty—it is also a time of complete enjoyment of “here and now” which is and can be an exciting part of every senior’s life. Each senior experiences a cementing of old friendships and the gaining of new and refreshing relationships. Each senses that he is one of the “senior citizens” in his school community; and interacts with his fellow upperclassman to bring about new and better innovations in the daily school routine. In extracurricular activities every senior can find a place, because three previous years of participation have helped him to search out his interests, and thus he devotes all the rest of his senior year to activities that are of special interest to him.

The senior year is also one of the most stimulating years in the life of a high school student. The prestige of being looked up to as a leader of the student body; the pleasure of seeing that special girl reign as homecoming queen; and the pride felt when the whole student body sings the alma mater at the last football game all contribute to memories which will be cherished.

The seniors share common thoughts about a very important moment in their lives which is of mutual consequence to all concerned—the day of Graduation. This day marks the opening of a new passageway to discovery, and signals a turning point in the hopes and dreams of every Senior.

HOMECOMING

Through the drizzle and drear of this year's soggy Homecoming came the undampened shouts of the many Shaw team supporters who turned out to cheer for victory. Although the score was bound up in a 12-12 tie with Garfield at the end of the fourth quarter, the evening was saved from the realm of the ordinary by the presentation of the candidates for Homecoming Queen, and the final selection of the girl who was to reign over the whole rainy occasion. At half-time, the candidates: Debbie Johnson, Pat Funari, Vickie Coiner, Denise Williams, Debbie Price, and Pat Thiele were presented.

The final moments before the crowning were anxious ones for the Shaw spectators. When Debbie Price was called up to receive the symbol of her victory—a crown—the suspense of the crowd gave way to cheers from Debbie's supporters as she became the 1968 Homecoming Queen and presided at the dance in her honor.

HI LITERS

The 1968-69 Shaw Hi-Liters entertained at football games, rallies, basketball games and the annual Kiwanis show. Their excellent precision dancing reflects their long hours of diligent practice. Practices are held three or four times a week during the summer and every night during the football season. The line consists of twelve girls, plus four under-studies and two managers. Their choreographer is Mr. Maurice Nystram.

The 1968 Cheerleading Clinics produced two talented sets of cheerleaders. The junior varsity cheerleaders practiced diligently to prepare themselves to cheer for Shaw at the home J.V. football and basketball games. The six freshman cheerleaders worked equally hard to stimulate crowd enthusiasm at the basketball rally and the winter sports rally. These two groups contributed greatly to school spirit.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Shaw's Student Council has long been the outlet for many constructive plans and projects undertaken by its representatives. Every year members are elected from the two buildings thus becoming the voice of the students they serve at each of the meetings, held on an alternate schedule every Tuesday. That is, one meeting is held at the Lounge one week, and then in school during alternating periods the next week.

Every year Student Council undertakes many worthwhile activities. For instance, this year Council distributed I-D cards (with photographs) and decorated the cars for Homecoming. Also, Council organizes the Cardinal-Of-the Month during the year, sponsors the all-school parties, plans the sports rallies, and annually presides over the May Queen election.

Besides the projects which Student Council undertakes for special events, it sponsors a foster child, Jin Shik.

CANTEEN COUNCIL

Of the many clubs at Shaw, perhaps Canteen Council is the best known for its variety of activities and accomplishments. With an eye on what's exciting, and also what will benefit the student body as a whole, the council arranges the details for special dances, and also buys records for the dances.

During the weekly meetings, many projects are discussed and amendments made, with supervising remarks added occasionally by the Council advisor, Mrs. Helen Parsh. Among other projects undertaken, the club has served refreshments at Open House and collected profits from the dances for a scholarship fund.

MEMBER OF THE WEDDING

The Le Masque Club, sponsored by Miss Charnas, is a club which is open to any student at Shaw interested in acting. So far this year Le Masque has presented a fall play entitled "Member of the Wedding". The three lead parts were portrayed by Joan Fuhry, Karen McIntosh, and John Henry Morton. Joan, who made her first appearance on stage in this play, played the role of Franke, a mixed up twelve year old. Karen played the part of the pleasant "mummy". John Henry, a student at Prospect, had the role of the small next door neighbor who did not quite understand Frankie and her surprising actions and feelings.

Shaw's orchestra, under the direction of Mr. S. Robert Fraser, participated in many programs during the 1968-69 school year. In November, the orchestra played at the traditional Veteran's Day Assembly. December brought the Christmas program—two of them, one during the school day and one in the evening, for parents. With the coming of spring, the orchestra began preparing for their spring concert, an annual event, and in January the orchestra began preparing for the annual spring musical. The second semester was equally busy for this hard working group. After the musical was completed, it was time to begin rehearsals for the spring concert and for Commencement exercises.

The members of the Shaw orchestra are talented musicians. They deserve applause for their ability.

The Shaw High School Rhythm Teens have long been an outstanding part of our school's musical tradition. This group of talented instrumentalists and vocalists are unique from the other more conventional segments of the music department in that they function much like an informal "family" group.

A great amount of rehearsing goes into every performance that they give. The members are chosen not only for their talent but also for their stamina and ability to get through many a long rehearsal session. But the after effects of the preparation are worth all the effort. The group comes across to every audience as a cheerful unit with a good deal of pep and a lot of versatility of style.

Because of this, the Rhythm Teens are very much in demand. Their professional polish has given them a good deal of fame around the Cleveland area, and they have performed for many local organizations and clubs.

CONCERT CHOIR AND MIXED CHORUS

The Shaw High Concert Choir and Mixed Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Honess, are very busy in the East Cleveland Area. These groups displayed their talent at the Christmas and Spring Concerts. The Concert Choir, the more select of the two groups, performed at the Veteran's Day program, at Severance Center for a Christmas program, and at The Home and Flower Show. Later in the year the Choir participated in the Lake Erie League Choir Festival. Their final performance was at Severance Hall for Commencement exercises.

The Choir and Mixed Chorus are seated in quartets and octets, rather than the usual sectional arrangement. This is used to produce a richer and fuller tone. Both groups sing sacred and secular music, attaining a perfect blend at each performance.

BAND

The Shaw High Marching Band, under the direction of S. Robert Fraser is a very active organization at Shaw High School. The band members began to drill on the football field as a marching band late in August. After drilling the band returned to Korb to learn new music.

The marching band performed during half-time at football games. At the conclusion of the football season the marching band changed over to the Shaw High Concert Band. Late in January they entertained the student body with an exceptional mid-winter concert.

SKI CLUB

To whomever it may concern—ski bums or student beginners alike—Ski Club has become an exciting and important part of all of their lives. The club's main purpose is to offer a good time on the slopes for all, but the accomplishment of this goal often takes many forms. For some, who are new at the sport, fulfillment from a fun angle comes from taking a few lessons. Then, after a good dosage of skill many are able to go on to the higher heights without any slips or slides, but a fall or two is almost an inevitability at any stage of the skiing game.

By the very name of the organization, Pep Club reveals its first and foremost function—that of rousing up a lot of school spirit and constructive steam among the student population. The club recognizes that a school cannot function solely on study and no excitement so they try to fill the gap with projects designed to pep up sagging student morale. Among various projects, the group has mustered all the selling power possible in order to drive the sale of sensational little spirited items—such as the black and red cardinal buttons and the little wavy Shaw High pom-poms to every spiralling heights.

CATALINA CLUB

Catalina Club, the girl's synchronized swim organization, is one of the most popular clubs at Shaw. Although membership includes such hardships as stringy hair and late dinners, many girls wish to join Catalina Club each year. These dedicated girls meet every Monday night; and under the capable leadership of their president, Debbie Price, hold a business meeting and then strenuous workouts.

Each spring, Catalina Club sponsors a water show in which the girls demonstrate the different skills and formations they have learned during the year. Each girl participates in the show, either in selected duets or group numbers. Appropriate music and lighting add depth to the swimming techniques.

The Club's activities also include numerous bake sales held in the lounge after school, and sponsoring a dance in the spring. These activities help to raise money for their own costs.

SERVICE CLUB

There are many clubs which give of their time and efforts to help keep Shaw a functional and friendly place, but none works more toward this end than Service Club, which consists of five committees. Many times we don't realize who runs things "behind the scenes" when broadcasts are given or the music is turned on at Korb. In these instances the Public Address and Sound Crew committees respectively are responsible for what comes to our ears. Another important committee is that of Concessions which keeps behind the counter business running at Korb Lounge after school. The remaining two committees Audio-Visual and Library Aides also serve the student body in important ways: Audio Visual keeps the Shaw TV station alive and Library Aides keep the library in usable condition for all the students who need to use it.

'68 Class AA State Champs! This was the spectacular conclusion to the Shaw High Cardinal's baseball season. The regular season, with its 11-3 record was outstanding, but the excitement and tension really began to build and increase when the team entered the section tournament. After winning the regional tournament, the Cardinals could not be stopped. The state tournament was next. Everything was ready—the team was in Columbus, the students at Shaw were waiting to board their chartered buses for the trip to Columbus—and then the rains came! The downpour continued for three days, dampening everything in Columbus, except the Cardinal's desire to win. Finally, the sun broke through and the two tournament games were played. Buddy Schultz' spectacular pitching sparked the team to two shut out victories in one day, a 6-0 win over Columbus Marion Franklin and a 1-0 squeaker over Toledo Rogers. Shaw had won the tournament. For the first time in many years the state baseball trophy rests in the display case in Korb.

OFFICIALS CLUB

The Athletic Council and the Officials Club together serve the Shaw High Girl's Physical Education Department both during and after school hours. The Athletic Council Members double as gymleaders and organize the Girl's Athletic Association Activities after school. Each Girl is assigned a sport; for which she signs up the teams, takes attendance, and records the points for each girl that took part. The Official's Club members assist in the G.A.A. games by officiating; receiving 5 extra G.A.A. points for each game they officiate.

To raise funds the clubs held bake sales and sponsored a competitive sports games such as Smith-Vassar and Army-Navy involving student players.

ARMY-NAVY CHEERLEADERS

Both the Army and the Navy have reputations that range world wide, but these two American branches of military service are not the only ones with a claim to fame. Each year Shaw holds tryouts for a very important event—and the name of the game is Army-Navy too. About 40 girls are chosen out of the many who try out, and the game always proves to be exciting.

The word SHUTTLE means the accomplishment of a goal. After seven chaotic months, the 1969 yearbook staff and I are proud to present our aim, the 1969 SHUTTLE. The tedious months of making our dream a reality were constantly marked by many intolerable burdens and gratifying success. There were numerous quarrels, "unprintable pictures," and many lengthy hours trying to meet our deadlines. Endless time was spent trying to guide the inexperienced members so that the staff could successfully produce a finished product.

We hope that this book will be a diary of the school year. In later years students should be able to look back and recall all the joys and sorrows of 1968-69. This yearbook catalogues the accomplishments of the class of '69 and pictures the achievements of the entire student body.

Many people have helped to make the SHUTTLE a reality. I should especially like to thank each member of my staff who gave his time and effort to help create this yearbook. Special thanks go to Mr. George Stewart, from the S.K. Smith Company, who assisted us in choosing our cover. I am especially grateful to Mr. Jim Parkinson, from the Graphic Arts Corporation, who helped us to overcome many difficulties in the preparation of the SHUTTLE. Alston Studios should be remembered for an excellent job on the undergraduate pictures.

Special thanks go to our student photographers Jim Pahl and Glen Palmer. Their creativity was curtailed by the prosaic requirements of reoccurring deadlines. Many of the pictures were printed by our own photographers which required much time and effort on their part. Without these boys we would never have achieved a finished product.

My entire staff join me in thanking Mrs. Martha Elmore, our advisor. Her determination, willingness to help, and ability to somehow make the best of any problem has guided us through many difficult times. She has given her time and effort to make a successful accomplishment of our goal, the 1969 SHUTTLE.

Sincerely,
Barbara Pastuch
1969 Editor-in-Chief
